

BA-20 Profit Manager™

Time is money . . . manage both better with the BA-20 Profit Manager™.

This dandy little desktop can help you save money, time, and space.

Accurate cost-sell-margin computations can help you avoid costly errors . . . keystroke-saving preprogrammed functions solve problems fast . . . and the powerful but petite BA-20 doesn't eat up your elbowroom. It won't eat up your batteries, either. A unique power system lets you use solar cells as your main energy source. However, should you encounter below-normal light levels, you can call in a battery backup at the flick of a switch. Handy.

The clock has its own battery so it can go on giving you the time (and date) regardless of which power mode you've selected for the calculator.

The liquid crystal display has 10 digits, commas, floating decimal, and memory indicator—and it's comfortably tilted. You can add-to or subtract-from the memory. Special keys include percent, change-sign, and square root.
